Figures

Figure 1: Galeazzo Alessi, southern façade, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (present day, taken by Professor Nadja Aksamija)
Figure 2: Galeazzo Alessi, detail of southern façade’s eastern side bay, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (present day, taken by Professor Nadja Aksamija)
Figure 3: Galeazzo Alessi, detail of the southern façade’s second storey, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (present day, taken by Professor Nadja Aksamija)
Figure 4: Galeazzo Alessi, eastern façade (partially obscured by trees), Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from De Negri, 1957)
Figure 5: detail of western façade, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (present day, taken by Professor Nadja Aksamija)
Figure 6: anonymous, twentieth-century watercolor of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso (from Seitun, 2007)

Figure 7: anonymous, sixteenth-century map of Genoa (from Poleggi, 1977)
Figure 8: Luca Cambiaso (?), Il Rapimento di Elena, 1560s, removed fresco from Palazzo Nicolosio Lomellino (on the Strada Nuova in Genoa, Italy), now at Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa, Italy (Albaro) (from Seïtun, 2007)
Figure 9: Cathedral of San Lorenzo, Genoa, Italy, plan from 1899 (from Besta, et al., 1998)
Figure 10: Cathedral of San Lorenzo, Genoa, Italy, main façade fronting a piazza (from Google Images)
Figure 11: Martin Paul Gauthier, plan and elevation of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso (from Gauthier, 1845)
Figure 12: Cristoforo de Grassi, View of Genoa in 1481, 1597 (from Poleggi, 1977)
Figure 13: Genoese world map from 1457 (from Scafi, 2006)
Figure 14: anonymous, Convegno navale guidato da Carlo V, il papa e Andrea Doria, sixteenth century (from Poleggi, 1977)

Figure 15: The Embriaci Tower, Genoa, Italy (from Balchin, 2008)
Figures 16: Luca Cambiaso, Diana (above) and Apollo (below), frescoes in the piano nobile of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso (from Boccardo, ed., 2007)
Figure 17: Villa Tomati, Genoa, Italy (from De Negri, 1967)

Figure 18: plan of piano nobile loggia, Villa Tomati, Genoa, Italy (from De Negri, 1967)
Figure 19: Villa Cattaneo-Imperiale, Genoa, Italy (from De Negri, 1967)
Figure 21: anonymous, projected reconstruction of Villa Andrea Doria in the late sixteenth century, Genoa (Fassolo), Italy (from Stagno, 2005)

Figure 22: plan of the piano nobile, Villa Andrea Doria, Genoa (Fassolo), Italy (from Stagno, 2005)
Figure 23: terrace arcade facing the gardens and the Ligurian Sea with frescoes by Perino del Vaga (done in the 1520s and 1530s), Villa Andrea Doria, Genoa (Fassolo), Italy (from Stagno, 2005)

Figure 24: reconstructed garden fountain, Villa Andrea Doria, Genoa (Fassolo), Italy (from Stagno, 2005)
Figure 25: anonymous, an engraving of the terrace fronting the garden and sea (19th century), Villa Andrea Doria, Genoa (Fassolo) (from Stagno, 2005)

Figure 26: anonymous, painting of a bridge leading to the arcaded terrace with gardens and sea views from Villa Andrea Doria (19th c), Genoa (Fassolo), Italy (from Stagno, 2005)
Figure 27: Bronzino, Andrea Doria as Neptune, 1550-51, oil on canvas (from Stagno, 2005)
Figure 28: Ignazio Danti, fresco of Genoa, the Gallery of Maps, the Vatican (Rome), Italy, 1580-81 (from Gambi, 1997)
Figure 29: Ignazio Danti, detail of Fassolo and Villa Andrea Doria (in the far left) from map of Genoa, the Gallery of Maps, the Vatican (Rome), Italy (from ArtStor)
Figure 30: Jean Massys, Flora with a View of Genoa, 1561 (from Poleggi, 1977)

Figure 31: Jean Massys, Flora with a View of Genoa, 1561, detail of Genoa (from Poleggi, 1977)
Figure 32: Jean Massays, Flora with a View of Genoa, 1561, detail of young couple (from Poleggi, 1977)
Figure 33: Ignazio Danti, fresco of Liguria, the Gallery of Maps, Vatican (Rome), Italy, 1580-81 (from Gambi, 1997)
Figure 34: diagram of the Gallery of Maps (from Gambi, 1997)
Figure 35: Ignazio Danti, fresco of Liguria from the Gallery of Maps, detail of foreground with monks (from Gambi, 1997)
Figure 36: anonymous, portrait of Alessandro Longo Giustiniani (from Google Images)
Figure 37: screenshot of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso and the ecclesiastical matrix in Albaro (from Google Maps); the letters correspond to the following locations: (A) San Francesco d’Albaro, (B) Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, (C) Santa Maria del Prato, (D) San Giuliano, (E) San Nazaro

Figure 38: detail, Church and Abbey of San Giuliano, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (present day, from Google Images)
Figure 39: Church and Abbey of San Giuliano, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (present day, from Google Images)

Figure 40: Santa Maria del Prato on pizza Leopardi across from San Francesco d’Albaro, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from Chiese di Genova, 1986)
Figure 41: detail of crypt and presbytery above, Santa Maria del Prato, Genoa (Albaro), Italy
(from Chiese di Genova, 1986)
Figure 42: back wall and cul-de-sac, San Francesco d’Albaro, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from Chiuse di Genova, 1986)

Figure 43: San Francesco d’Albaro on piazza Leopardi, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (present day, taken from Panaramio.com)
Figure 44: interior, San Francesco d’Albaro, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from Chiese di Genova, 1986)

Figure 45: “La Verna,” the remote Tuscan Apennines (from Google Images)
Figure 46: a bench on the piano terreno at Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from De Negri, 1957)
Figure 47: Peter Paul Rubens, drawing of ground plan of Santa Maria Assunta at Carignano, Genoa, Italy, from Palazzi di Genova (from Rubens, 2002)
Figure 48: Peter Paul Rubens, engraving of southern façade elevation of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy, from Palazzi di Genova (from Rubens, 2002)
Figure 49: Peter Paul Rubens, drawing of the plan of piano terreno (ground floor) of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy, from Palazzi di Genova (from Rubens, 2002)
Figure 50: Peter Paul Rubens, drawing of the plan and elevation of the central staircase leading from piano terreno to piano nobile, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from Rubens, 2002)
Figure 51: Peter Paul Rubens, longitudinal section of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso (from the western side), Genoa (Albaro), Italy, from Palazzi di Genova (from Rubens, 2002)
Figure 52: Peter Paul Rubens, drawing of the plan of piano nobile (second storey) of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy, from Palazzi di Genova (from Rubens, 2002)
Figure 53: two niches (one visible, the other behind the photographer) between the piano nobile loggia and the sala grande on the piano nobile, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from De Negri, 1957)
Figure 54: detail of niche in the piano nobile loggia, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from De Negri, 1957)
Figure 55: Claude Lorrain, Temple of Venus and Roma, Rome, Italy (from ArtStor)
Figure 56: Andrea Palladio, plan, cross section, and façade elevation of the Temple of Mars and Venus, from I Quattro Libri dell’Architettura (from Palladio, 1997)
Figure 57: Andrea Palladio, longitudinal elevation and details from the Temple of Mars and Venus, from I Quattro Libri dell’Architettura (from Palladio, 1997)
Figure 58: figural herms in the piano nobile loggia, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Genoa (Albaro), Italy (from De Negri, 1957)
Figure 59: Michelangelo Buonarroti, drawn figural and architectural designs for the Sistine Chapel, 1513, Vatican (Rome), Italy (from Brothers, 2008)
Figure 60: anonymous, portrait of Galeazzo Alessi, 1572 (from Belardi, 2006)
Figure 61: Antonio da Sangallo the Younger, drawing of the plan for Rocca Paolina, Perugia, Italy (from Frommel, vol. 1, 1994)

Figure 62: drawing of Galeazzo Alessi’s piano nobile loggia at Rocca Paolina, Perugia, Italy (from De Negri, 1957)
Figure 63: Galeazzo Alessi, Palazzo dei Priori, façade on the Corso, Perugia, Italy (from De Negri, 1957)
Figure 64: Sebastiano Serlio, amphitheatre design, from Book II of Tutte l’Opere d’Architettura et Prospettiva (from Serlio, vol. 1, 1996)
Figure 65: map of Genoa (from Poleggi, 1977)
Figure 66: Ignazio Danti, detail of Genoa, Albaro and the expanded eastern walls from fresco of Genoa, the Gallery of Maps, the Vatican (Rome), Italy (from ArtStor)
Figure 67: Strada Nuova detail from Gerolamo Bordini’s View of Genoa, 1616 (from Caraceni, 1993)
Figure 68: the Strada Nuova palazzi (from De Negri, 1967)
Figure 69: Sebastiano Serlio, tragic set design from Book II of Tutte l'Opere d'Architettura et Prospetiva (from Serlio, vol. 1, 1996)
Figure 70: partial view of the frontal façade of Palazzo Nicolosio Lomellino, on the Strada Nuova, Genoa, Italy (from Bozzo, et al., 2004)
Figure 71: detail of sculptural detailing on the frontal façade of Palazzo Nicolosio Lomellino, on the Strada Nuova, Genoa, Italy (from Bozzo, et al., 2004)
Figure 72: oval entrance hall at Palazzo Nicolosio Lomellino, on the Strada Nuova, Genoa, Italy (from Bozzo, et al., 2004)
Figure 73: Peter Paul Rubens, drawing of the southern elevation of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Albaro (Genoa), Italy, from Palazzi di Genova (from Rubens, 2002)
Figure 74: Sebastiano Serlio, satiric set design from Book II of Tutte l'Opere d'Architettura et Prospetiva (from Serlio, vol. 1, 1996)
Figure 75: shadows falling on the southern façade of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Albaro (Genoa), Italy (present day, taken by Professor Nadja Aksamija)

Figure 76: Open grassy space to the south of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Albaro (Genoa), Italy (present day, taken by Professor Nadja Aksamija)
Figure 77: Sebastiano Serlio, two stair types, from Book II of Tutte l'Opere d'Architettura et Prospetiva (from Serlio, vol. 1, 1996)
Figure 78: Michelangelo Buonarroti, drawing for unexecuted design of the Church of San Lorenzo (from ArtStor)
Figure 79: Galeazzo Alessi, map from Il Libro dei Misteri (from Alessi, 1974)
Figure 80: Galeazzo Alessi, view from inside Cappella della Vedova to landscape and subsequent chapel, from Il Libro dei Misteri (from Alessi, 1974)
Figure 81: Michelangelo Buonarroti, Laurentian Library, in the Cathedral of San Lorenzo, Florence (from ArtStor)
Figure 82: Galeazzo Alessi, one of many façade elevations without the classical orders, from Il Libro dei Misteri (from Alessi, 1974)
Figure 83: Galeazzo Alessi, detail of a praying pilgrim, from Il Libro dei Misteri (from Alessi, 1974)
Figure 7884 Galeazzo Alessi, detail from interior of Cappella del Paralitico from Il Libro dei Misteri (from Alessi, 1974)
Figure 85: Galeazzo Alessi, detail from interior of Cappella del Paralitico from Il Libro dei Misteri (from Alessi, 1974)
Figure 86: Massaroli’s 1648 map of Genoa, detail of Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso (from Google Images)
Figure 87: Galeazzo Alessi, northern façade with detail of the now covered piano nobile loggia, Villa Giustiniani-Cambiaso, Albaro (Genoa), Italy (from Google Images)

Figure 88: Galeazzo Alessi, San Vittore al Corpo, Milan, Italy (from De Negri, 1957)